Got a call from Monsanto today. They are interested in discussing compensatory mitigation in the context of the glyphosate registration review. They've also developed the attached framework for a monarch recovery plan. They are sharing this with a few agencies (Dan mentioned FWS by name) as well as some other organizations. They are thinking about engaging with Keystone to try to facilitate this discussion. He asked if we could provide feedback/input on the attached within the next 2 weeks.

Hi Donita:

Per our conversation this morning see the attached Doc. Again, I'd like to emphasize that this is a framework that we are putting out so that an inclusive, national approach can be taken to helping Monarchs.

We are offering this as a basis to start a conversation so that a consensus plan can be built with multiple lines of input. In other words, it's our strong desire for there to be a group plan. To that end, we'd greatly appreciate your feedback on the attached framework and what you see as possible next steps.

Regarding next steps: we spoke with Keystone 2 weeks ago and asked them to begin planning a meeting to bring folks together. It's our understanding that the Keystone Center is ready to reach out and get a date/location on the calendar.

Best Regards,
